

Divorce and separation are among life's most difficult and stressful events. A relationship that you thought would last forever has gone sour. There is much disappointment, anger, bitterness, and conflict—before, during, and after the breakup.

Children In The Middle will provide you with an opportunity to explore and discuss the root of your conflict, learn how your conflict impacts your child, and learn new ways to minimize conflict by learning and practicing new skills.

What Is CIM

Children in the Middle is a skills-based program that helps children and parents deal with the children's reactions to divorce. Divorcing parents may use their children to manipulate and/or control each other around a variety of personal, social, and financial issues. These tactics increase the stress and anxiety typically experienced by children of divorce and can increase children's risk for behavior problems, depression, delinquency, substance use, teen pregnancy, school failure and dropout, and suicide.
